

The Picky Pair

{discovering the chic and unique of Chattanooga and beyond}

It's been a while since my {PP} and I have been able to actually get together for our usual Chattanooga outings. It was the call of spring {LHM, was excited about her up and coming beach trip} that prompted us to stop into The Cosmetic Market, in Warehouse Row, for the newest items that are sure to prep skin for the summer. {buffing away the winter blues}

We were not disappointed and each found something new to try.
